

HOTROX JEWELRY

Hot Rox jewelry is a line of sculptural and dramatic healing jewelry created by professional artist and Reiki practitioner, Andrea Rosenfeld. She gathers together stunning gemstones, precious metals and exotic woods to create thought-provoking and exciting healing art “My jewelry exudes the essence of my creative playfulness, respect of nature and dedication to exploration. The designs take shape as I flow with the materials, and the energy I receive while manipulating them.” Hot Rox Jewelry designs are manifested from a variety of natural materials: each evoking emotion derived from textures, form, negative space and palette, their relation to other materials or the light, itself.

a dramatic combination of professional artistry metaphysical energy and philanthropy

Hot Rox Jewelry mixes texture, exquisite palettes and inspiring composition into moving art pieces combining skilled artistry and healing power. This spectacular 5-strand necklace gathers together Birdseye Maple wood, Carnelian, Jade, Pyrite, Tiger Eye, Jasper, horn and silver.

- A Reiki practitioner, Ms. Rosenfeld cleanses the minerals and metals, increasing their ability to strengthen creativity and good physical health, reduce stress and negativity; stimulate love, weight loss and more
- Her designs are manifested from a variety of natural materials: each evoking emotion derived from textures, form, negative space and palette, their relation to other materials or the light, itself
- Donating her jewelry, as well as proceeds, to charity allows her to continue to honor her Mother, Sheila; a two-time cancer survivor
- Former Merchandising Director of Isaac Mizrahi, Ltd, Andrea Rosenfeld brings her professional fashion background to her clients and transactions
- Collaborating with other award-winning artists, Ms. Rosenfeld appreciates the collective spirit and learning from others in her industry
- Eco-friendly materials bring ease to her clients and to Mother Earth
- Utilizing a number of art techniques: soldering, casting, woodworking, weaving and carving, Andrea Rosenfeld has the ability to offer exciting, unique designs and continues to grow as an artist.
